PRIVACY POLICY

Our website uses anonymous “cookies” to allow customers to purchase from our website and to track customers’ usage of our website. These “cookies” do not contain or transmit any personal, confidential or financial information that could be used to identify individual customers purchasing from our website.

All visitors to our website are free to refuse the use of “cookies”, however due to technical reasons this may prevent customers from being able to make purchases from our website. Using “cookies” ensures that the items added to, or removed from, customers’ online baskets are accurately stated when customers proceed to payment.

We also use cookies if you have consented to the use of cookies and when you have accepted that you are above the minimum age to visit the website.

Our website uses Shopify to process any financial transactions when customers purchase from our online shop. Gleann Mor Spirits Co Ltd have no access to your financial data and account information, as every transaction is processed and managed by Shopify.

Gleann Mor Spirits Co Ltd complies with the principles of the Data Protection Act 1998 when dealing with all data received from visitors to the site. Gleann Mor Spirits Co Ltd will neither sell your personal data to third parties nor market it elsewhere unless you give us permission to do so.

We regularly email website news and information updates to those customers who have specifically subscribed to our email service. All emails sent by us will be clearly marked as originating from us. All such emails will also include clear instructions on how to unsubscribe from our email service and any future emails.

We never sell, rent or exchange mailing lists.

In accordance with the Privacy and Electronic Communications (EC Directive) Regulations 2003, we never send bulk unsolicited emails, (also known as Spam) to email addresses.

If you have any questions relating to our Privacy Policy, please contact us.
